(U) AFFIDAVIT IN SUPPORT OF AN APPLICATION FOR A SEARCH WARRANT

(U) I, John Kralik, being first duly sworn, hereby depose and state as follows:

(U) INTRODUCTION AND AGENT BACKGROUND

- 1. (U) I make this affidavit in support of an application for a search warrant for information associated with certain accounts that is stored at premises owned, maintained, controlled, or operated by Microsoft Corporation ("Microsoft"), an e-mail provider headquartered at One Microsoft Way, Redmond, Washington. The information to be searched is described in the following paragraphs and in Attachment A. This affidavit is made in support of an application for a search warrant under 18 U.S.C. §§ 2703(a), 2703(b)(1)(A) and 2703(c)(1)(A) to require Microsoft to disclose to the government records and other information in its possession pertaining to the subscriber or customer associated with the accounts, including the contents of communications.
- 2. (U) I am a Special Agent with the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), and have been employed with the FBI for approximately 10 years. I am currently assigned to a squad at the Washington Field Office that handles national security cases. During my tenure with the FBI, I have handled federal criminal investigations and the execution of numerous arrest and search warrants. I have also received specialized training in national security matters and in the use of the Internet, email accounts, and other technologies to commit federal criminal violations.

- 3. (U) The facts in this affidavit come from my personal observations, my training and experience, and information obtained from other agents, witnesses, and government agencies, including the FBI, Central Intelligence Agency ("CIA"), and Department of Defense ("DoD"). This affidavit is intended to show merely that there is sufficient probable cause for the requested warrant and does not set forth all of my knowledge about this matter. ¹
- 4. (U) Based on my training and experience and the facts as set forth in this affidavit, there is probable cause to believe that violations of 18 U.S.C. § 793 (disclosure of national defense information) have been committed and that there exists evidence of violations of 18 U.S.C. § 793 in the email account described in Attachment A. Accordingly, there is probable cause to search the information described in Attachment A for evidence of these crimes, as described in Attachment B.

(U) PROBABLE CAUSE

(U) Background of Investigation

¹ (U) As explained more fully herein, as part of the instant investigation, this Court authorized the search of an email account associated with John Kiriakou, a subject of the investigation, on or about November 19, 2011. That search revealed, inter alia, a second email account associated with Kiriakou, which the government now seeks authority to search.

| 5. (U) This investigation concerns allegations relating to the unauthorized disclosure |
| of national defense information relating to or arising from the capture, detention, interrogation of |
| certain detainees, and relating to CIA sources, methods, operations, and personnel. |
| 6. (TS/) John Kiriakou is a subject of the investigation. Kiriakou |
| was a CIA intelligence officer from 1990 to 2004. Kiriakou worked in |
| and has stated publicly that he was involved in Abu Zubaydah's capture and initial detention. |
| Thereafter, Kiriakou worked at CIA headquarters, |
| In that capacity, Kiriakou had |
| access to classified reporting relating to the Counterterrorism Center's High Value Target |
| ("HVT") program, the Renditions, Detention, and Interrogation ("RDI") program, and |
| , among other matters. |
| 7. (U) Upon leaving the employment of the CIA, Kiriakou gave a series of high- |
| profile media interviews based purportedly on his experience as a former CIA officer and |
| addressing such matters as terrorist detention and interrogation. In 2010, Kiriakou published his |
| memoirs, The Reluctant Spy: My Secret Life in the CLA's War on Terror, which purports to |
| describe his work at the CIA. Prior to the book's publication, Kiriakou submitted multiple drafts |
| ² (U) Paragraph classification markings denoted in this affidavit are included solely to ensure proper handling of the affidavit and information contained therein and are not provided for the purpose of establishing probable cause or intended to be relied upon by the Court in making its probable cause determination. Where representations are made with respect to classification for purposes of establishing probable cause, they are made explicitly and should be considered preliminary determinations subject to further review. |

| of the book, beginning on or about October 11, 2007, to the CIA Publications Review Board |
|---|
| ("PRB"), which determined that several of the drafts contained classified information and so |
| advised Kiriakou. |
| 8. (U) Our investigation has revealed the following, among other things: |
| a. (TS/ On or about June 22, 2008, published in |
| the New York Times an article, "Inside a 9/11 Mastermind's Interrogation," describing the |
| capture of Abu Zubaydah, the interrogation of KSM; and identifying and describing the role of a |
| particular CIA interrogator among other things. As described in paragraphs |
| 9-32, infra, according to preliminary CIA analysis, certain information in New York |
| article appears to represent first-time disclosures of classified CIA information, including |
| sensitive details regarding intelligence operations, sources and methods. The article also |
| includes unattributed information that bears a strong resemblance in style and substance to |
| language that Kiriakou submitted to the PRB prior to the publication of the New York Times |
| article, and that he later published in his book. For example, |

| Kiriakou was strategically disclosing information to the media to put that information in the |
| public domain and thereby make PRB approval of the use of such information in his book more |
| likely. |
| b. (U) Subsequent to the publication of the New York Times article, on or |
| about January 2009, attorneys for now detained at |
| Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, filed a Motion (the "Motion") with the Office of |
| Military Commissions. The Motion sought, inter alia, information relating to the detention and |
| interrogation of A classified Attachment to the |
| Motion identifies numerous persons by name and alleges that those persons have direct |
| knowledge and could testify about the detention and interrogation of while in the HVD |
| program. Based on preliminary CIA analysis, the Attachment includes information that may |
| indicate possible first-time unauthorized disclosures of classified information regarding certain |
| individuals, including current and former Agency staff officers and contractors who were |
| nvolved in the Counterterrorism Center's HVT program and later the RDI program. The |
| malysis further suggests that the Motion's authors may have obtained classified information |
| from a source or sources with access to CIA's high value target, renditions, and detention |
| programs, like Kiriakou.3 To ensure their security and as part of the investigation, CIA and FBI |

personnel have contacted and interviewed many of the persons identified in the Motion to warn them of the possible compromise of their identity and assist in identifying possible sources. As described more fully below (see paragraphs 40-57, infra), at least three such persons identified Kiriakou as a possible source due in part to his familiarity with these individuals as former colleagues at the CIA.

|--|
| c. (U) When contacted by CIA and FBI personnel, the three former |
| colleagues also described being contacted by reporters in 2008, 2009, or both, as described |
| further in paragraphs 39-57, infra. These reporters included |
| By order pursuant to |
| 18 U.S.C. § 2703(d), the government obtained email header information from Apple Inc. for an |

| review of the email header information, Kiriakou was in contact with (20 times), |
| (123 times), and (30 times). Further, based on the email header information and the |
| information provided to us by the former colleagues regarding when the reporters contacted |
| them, I have learned that Kiriakou was in email contact with |
| their contact with each of Kiriakou's three former colleagues. Further, Kiriakou appears to have |

| (U) Background Regarding June 22, 2008 Article by |
| 9. (U) On or about June 22, 2008, published in the New York Times an |
| article, "Inside a 9/11 Mastermind's Interrogation," describing the capture of Abu Zubaydah, the |
| interrogation, the role of a particular interrogator, and other matters. |
| his sources as "two dozen current and former American and foreign intelligence officers" and |
| wrote that "[m]ost would speak of the highly classified program only on the condition of |
| anonymity." |
| 10. (S//NF)-According to a CIA report dated specific information |
| relating to or arising from the interrogation of detainees is classified. While there have been |
| numerous articles previously covering the topic of detainee interrogation, certain information in |
| the article appears to represent first-time disclosures of classified CIA information. The |
| information disclosed in the article constitutes an unauthorized disclosure of classified |
| information at the TOP SECRET codeword level. CIA subject matter experts have assessed that |
| the disclosure of this information could reasonably be expected to cause exceptionally grave |
| damage to the national security. The classified information had not been officially released and | has not been cleared for publication.

⁵ (U) In its October 24, 2007 response to Kiriakou's October 11, 2007 manuscript, the PRB informed Kiriakou that the manuscript was considered classified, could not be published, and that, should be wish to object to the PRB decision, he could submit "citations or copies of similar references that show this information to have been previously released and already in the public domain." It is possible that Kiriakou, by disclosing classified information to sought to place such information in the public domain and thereby make PRB approval of his manuscript more likely. Indeed, based on an interview with a former colleague of Kiriakou, Kiriakou stated to the former colleague, in sum and substance, that, although the clearance process with PRB for his book was difficult, he was able to include sensitive information based on what had been reported in the press.

John C. Kiriakou, a former C.I.A. counterterrorism officer who was the first to question Abu Zubaydah, expressed such conflicted views when he spoke publicly to and other news organizations late last year. In a December interview with before being cautioned by the C.I.A. not to discuss

"It was like flipping a switch," Mr. Kiriakou said of the shift from resistance to cooperation. He said he thought such "desperate measures" were justified in the "desperate time" in 2002 when another attack seemed imminent. But on reflection, he said, he had concluded that waterboarding was torture and should not be permitted. "We Americans are better than that," he said.

(U) The Target Account

61. (U) Based on my review of the Mac Account Emails, I have also learned that Kiriakou maintains at least one additional email account from which he emails journalists and that may otherwise include relevant evidence. Specifically, I have learned the following:

| | TOP SECRET/ |
|---|---|
| • | (U) On October 23, 2009, Kiriakou received an email from journalist |
| | who stated, "Not sure if you got my reply to your very helpful email, |
| | or if it disappeared into the ether. If so let me know and I'll resend." Kiriakou |
| | replied on October 25 and stated, "His I never received your second email. I |

| | " On or about March 3, 2010, in an email from the Mac |
| | Account, Kiriakou informed that he sent an email answering one of |
| | questions "from my spam account." |
| | (U) The Mac Account Emails include multiple emails sent by Kiriakou from the |
| | Mac Account to (the "Target Account"). For example, on |
| | or about July 26, 2008 Kiriakou forwarded to the Target Account a series of |
| | emails containing scanned pages from multiple books by former CIA officials. |
| | (From other correspondence, it appears that Kiriakon was seeking to determine |
| | what information the PRB had cleared for other authors, in order to predict what |
| | the PRB might approve in Kiriakou's case.) Similarly, on or about November 23, |
| | 2008, Kiriakou received an email at the Target Account with the subject line, |
| | Hosting Account Setup, from Godaddy.com. (Kiriakou used Godaddy.com to |
| | host the website for Rhodes Group, his consulting firm.) Kiriakou then forwarded |

| emailed Kiriakou at both the Mac Email Account and the Target | |

| also emailed Kiriakou at both accounts with subject line "PLEASE | |

| | which Kiriakou received emails at the Mac Account, but also at the Target |
| | Account as a cc: recipient. |
| f. | (U) The Mac Account Emails also included emails reflecting the fact that the |
| | Target Account was used as a general alternative email address for Kiriakou. On |

62. (U) On or about February 8, 2011, the Government served a request on Microsoft, the service provider for the Target Account, that the contents of the Target Account be preserved pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 2703(f), for 90 days. Microsoft assigned preservation record number to any data that may be in the Target Account.

(U) Email Records at Microsoft

- of on-line services, including electronic mail ("e-mail") access, to the general public.

 Microsoft allows subscribers to obtain e-mail accounts at the domain name hotmail.com, like the e-mail account listed in Attachment A. Subscribers obtain an account by registering with Microsoft. During the registration process, Microsoft asks subscribers to provide basic personal information. Therefore, the computers of Microsoft are likely to contain stored electronic communications (including retrieved and unretrieved e-mail for Microsoft subscribers) and information concerning subscribers and their use of Microsoft services, such as account access information, e-mail transaction information, and account application information.
- 64. (U) In general, an e-mail that is sent to a Microsoft subscriber is stored in the subscriber's "mail box" on Microsoft servers until the subscriber deletes the e-mail. If the subscriber does not delete the message, the message can remain on Microsoft servers indefinitely.
- 65. (U) When the subscriber sends an e-mail, it is initiated at the user's computer, transferred via the Internet to Microsoft's servers, and then transmitted to its end destination.

| • | |
|-----------------|-------|
| TOD OF ODDET! | D (d) |
| TOP SECRET! | |
| TOT DESCRIPTION | |

Microsoft often saves a copy of the e-mail sent. Unless the sender of the e-mail specifically deletes the e-mail from the Microsoft server, the e-mail can remain on the system indefinitely.

- 66. (U) A sent or received e-mail typically includes the content of the message, source and destination addresses, the date and time at which the e-mail was sent, and the size and length of the e-mail. If an e-mail user writes a draft message but does not send it, that message may also be saved by Microsoft but may not include all of these categories of data.
- 67. (U) An Microsoft subscriber can also store files, including e-mails, address books, contact or buddy lists, calendar data, pictures, and other files, on servers maintained and/or owned by Microsoft.
- 68. (U) Subscribers to Microsoft might not store on their home computers copies of the e-mails stored in their Microsoft account. This is particularly true when they access their Microsoft account through the web, or if they do not wish to maintain particular e-mails or files in their residence.
- 69. (U) In general, e-mail providers like Microsoft ask each of their subscribers to provide certain personal identifying information when registering for an e-mail account. This information can include the subscriber's full name, physical address, telephone numbers and other identifiers, alternative e-mail addresses, and, for paying subscribers, means and source of payment (including any credit or bank account number).
- 70. (U) E-mail providers typically retain certain transactional information about the creation and use of each account on their systems. This information can include the date on which the account was created, the length of service, records of log-in (i.e., session) times and durations, the types of service utilized, the status of the account (including whether the account is inactive or closed), the methods used to connect to the account (such as logging into the account via Microsoft's website), and other log files that reflect usage of the account. In addition, e-mail providers often have records of the Internet Protocol address ("IP address") used to register the account and the IP addresses associated with particular logins to the account. Because every device that connects to the Internet must use an IP address, IP address information can help to identify which computers or other devices were used to access the e-mail account.

- 71. (U) In some cases, e-mail account users will communicate directly with an e-mail service provider about issues relating to the account, such as technical problems, billing inquiries, or complaints from other users. E-mail providers typically retain records about such communications, including records of contacts between the user and the provider's support services, as well records of any actions taken by the provider or user as a result of the communications.
- 72. (U) In my training and experience, evidence of who was using an e-mail account may be found in address books, contact or buddy lists, e-mail in the account, and attachments to e-mails, including pictures and files.
- 73. (U) As a federal agent, I am trained and experienced in identifying communications relevant to the crimes under investigation. The personnel of Microsoft are not. I also know that the manner in which the data is preserved and analyzed may be critical to the successful prosecution of any case based upon this evidence. It would be inappropriate and impractical, however, for federal agents to search the vast computer network of Microsoft for the relevant account and then to analyze the contents of that account on the premises of Microsoft. The impact on Microsoft's business could be severe. In order to accomplish the objective of the search warrant with a minimum of interference with the business activities to Microsoft, to protect the rights of the subject of the investigation and to effectively pursue this investigation, authority is sought to allow Microsoft to make a digital copy of the entire contents of the information subject to seizure specified in Section I of Attachment B. That copy will be provided to me or to any authorized federal agent. The contents will then be analyzed to identify records and information subject to seizure pursuant to Section II of Attachment B.

| TOP SECRET | i i |
| | 1 |

(U) INFORMATION TO BE SEARCHED AND THINGS TO BE SEIZED

74. (U) I anticipate executing this warrant under the Electronic Communications Privacy Act, in particular 18 U.S.C. §§ 2703(a), 2703(b)(1)(A) and 2703(c)(1)(A), by using the warrant to require Microsoft to disclose to the government copies of the records and other information (including the content of communications) particularly described in Section I of Attachment B. Upon receipt of the information described in Section I of Attachment B, government-authorized persons will review that information to locate the items described in Section II of Attachment B.

(U) CONCLUSION

75. (U) Based on the forgoing, I request that the Court issue the proposed search warrant.

- 76. (U) This Court has jurisdiction to issue the requested warrant because it is "a court of competent jurisdiction" as defined by 18 U.S.C. § 2711. 18 U.S.C. §§ 2703(a), (b)(1)(A) & (c)(1)(A). Specifically, the Court is "a district court of the United States . . . that has jurisdiction over the offense being investigated." 18 U.S.C. § 2711(3)(A)(i).
- 77. (U) Pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 2703(g), the presence of a law enforcement officer is not required for the service or execution of this warrant.

(U) REQUEST FOR SEALING

78. (U) I further request that the Court order that all papers in support of this application, including the affidavit and search warrant, be sealed until further order of the Court. These documents discuss an ongoing criminal investigation that is neither public nor known to all of the targets of the investigation. Accordingly, there is good cause to seal these documents because their premature disclosure may seriously jeopardize that investigation.

Respectfully submitted,

John Kralik Special Agent
